Over 2,000 Grangers Attend Annual Picnic At Boak Farm

National Head Urges Treaty Amendments To Assist Farmers

Louis J. Taber Warns America Must Live Within Income And Balance Budget

BOAK SUGGESTS TABER FOR NEXT PRESIDENT

Afternoon And Evening Programs Enjoyed By Grangers Of 25 Counties

Two thousand Grangers from 25 western Pennsylvania counties, together with a sprinkling from Ohio, gathered at the beautiful farm of State Grange Master J. Audley Boak, in Slippery Rock township Wednesday for their 11th annual inter-county picnic. It was a joyous occasion, and while they were there to make merry, there seemed to be an undercurrent of seriousness manifested. One got the feeling that the Grangers were a little perturbed about present conditions in the country and were about ready to do something to try and effect a change.

Gather Early

The crowd began gathering during the morning hours, and at noon they were served dinner by the ladies of Willard Grange, the home Grange of the state master, so that by 1:30 o'clock they were just too full for words, and they settled themselves in the grove where they listened to the inspirational logic of their national head.

PA NEW OBSERVES

R. R. Potter, former New Castle boy, now a resident of Hollidaysburg, Pa., who is here on a visit, finds a good many changes in the old town since he left. He particularly notes that many of the people whom he knew when he was connected with the New Castle Y. M. C. A. have passed to their reward. Mr. Potter is a son of the late Alderman Potter and since going to Hollidaysburg he has taken quite an active interest in the town, serving for a number of years. He recently ran for assembly but lost out by only a few votes.

Up in Venango county they are preparing to stage a milking contest to determine the champion cow milker. It is being put on by the Chamber of Commerce, and will be staged in the public park at Franklin, probably on August 19. Such contests have proved great drawing cards in Ohio and New York state towns, and an effort is to be made to introduce them into Pennsylvania. What's the matter with Lawrence county having a milking contest? The coming county fair would be a good place to hold it.

Indications are that Lawrence county will have a big potato crop this year, provided the many recent rains do not cause the tubers to rot. There has been sufficient moisture during recent months to keep the potato tops green, and the fields never looked more promising than at the present time. Some farmers who have dug and marketed their early potatoes report that the yield has been good. This may be taken as an indication that the fall crop will be a bumper one.

About the only reminder of canal days in New Castle is a remnant of the stone lock, at the site of the old

Roosevelt Urges Defeat Of George In Athens Speech

Asks Georgian Voters To Nominate U. S. Attorney Lawrence Camp

GEORGE OPPOSED COURT PACKING

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 11.—"Constant progressive action is better than following either those who want to slow up or those who promise they will hand you the moon on a silver platter a week after they are elected."

In these words, President Roosevelt accepted an LL. D. degree from the University of Georgia and simultaneously expounded his New Deal theory of economic and social progress.

Asks George Defeat

Twenty-four hours earlier, at Warm Springs, Ga., the president had publicly called upon Georgia Democrats to defeat Senator Walter F. George, an administration opponent, and many present at the cap-and-gown ceremonies interpreted the executive's words as additional warning he wanted whole-hearted support in congress from members of his party or else their retirement from public life.

George voted against the president on supreme court enlargement, wages and hours, and government reorganization. Former Governor Eugene Talmadge, one of the contestants for the senate seat, fell out with the administration two years ago. William McRae, a third candidate, is running on a Townsend old age pension platform.

The president flatly told Georgia

Mercer Balking On Damage Cost

Claims Inability To Pay Costs Of Damages Entailed By Viaduct Erection

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 11.—Mercer county is not financially able to carry the burden of payment of the major portion of damages occurring from the construction of a viaduct at West Middlesex over the Shenango river replacing the present structure in use there. The plan of the state highway department which is building the viaduct at the cost of a quarter million, provide for the condemning of 10 properties. The damage is estimated at $100,000. The Erie and Pennsylvania railroads over whose tracks the viaduct will cross have announced their damage liability payment at $10,000 each. The balance is up to the county for payment.

The Public Service Commission has been petitioned to allocate the damages on this basis. A hearing was held recently at the court house here. Regardless of the ruling of the commission the county is not able to assume such financial burden and any allocation of such staggering sums as now seem inevitable will be met with stout resistance and a court fight here, it is intimated.

Italy Preparing For Major War

(International News Service)
TIVOLI, Italy, Aug. 11.—Addressing Italian troops at the close of military maneuvers Premier Mussolini today warned that his government is preparing for a possible major war.

"We have no illusions," he said. "We are preparing. While in many parts of the world cannon thunder and illusions and folly abound, it would be a crime not to prepare."

Father Divine's followers have been enjoying a two day excursion to their new 485-acre estate formerly owned by Howland Spencer, neighbor of the president's who opposes his policies. Russo-Jap Scrap Silenced Pending Armistice Plans

Fear Held That Armistice May Be Merely Lull Before Heavier Fighting

BELIEVE RUSSIANS WILL STAND FIRM

By JAMES E. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW, Aug. 11.—Fears that the Russo-Japanese armistice on the disputed Siberian-Manchukuoan frontier may prove a short one spread today as Moscow and Tokyo prepared to negotiate the border controversy by peaceful means.

Foreign circles here predicted that hitherto unpublished material which Japanese Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu plans to introduce into negotiations for demarcation of the boundary will be quickly rejected by Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov.

Guns May Resume

Should this happen, it was anticipated, the heavy guns will roar once more in the vicinity of Changkufeng Hill and the bloody warfare which has been raging there will be resumed.

Although the guns were silenced at noon today under terms of the truce agreed upon by Litvinov and Shigemitsu, the troops of both Russia and Japan remained in their trenches at the front, ready to spring at each other again if diplomatic efforts fail to affect peace.

Under terms of the agreement, a mixed commission will be appointed to arbitrate the territorial dispute. It will consist of two Soviet and two Japanese-Manchukuoan representatives, who will deal with demarcation of the disputed area.

But it was pointed out here that

Eight Rescued From Sinking Yacht, Fourteen In Small Boats Missing

(International News Service)
SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 11.—Fourteen persons in small boats were unreported today as high seas continued to run on Lake Erie following a severe storm that swept the Erie Islands last night.

Six of those missing were members of a Mansfield, O., fishing party, four were en route from the Put-In-Bay regatta to Toledo, and four were out of Monroe, Michigan in a boat powered with an outboard motor.

Eight other persons, including two women, were rescued from their sinking yacht by the freighter J. F. Schoellkopf, Jr., which docked here this morning.

Judge Schaeffer Dismisses Jury Until September

State Graft Probe Off Until Supreme Court Passes Upon Legislation

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Aug. 11.—While Gov. George H. E. Earle prepared to defend his administration in another radio address tonight, Judge Paul N. Schaeffer today formally dismissed the Dauphin county grand jury from consideration of state graft charges until at least September 19.

He sent the grand jurors—11 Republicans and 11 Democrats—home until that date, which is the time the next term of criminal court opens here.

The Berks county jurist, in charge of the now deferred inquiry, explained that it would take "at least another month" for the state supreme court to decide the constitutionality of legislation halting the local probe.

Judge Schaeffer said he came here today at the request of chief justice John W. Kephart of the supreme court.

Clark's Lead Is Growing Larger

(International News Service)
BOISE, Idaho, Aug. 11.—Extent of the lead of Rep. D. Worth Clark, critic of many major New Deal policies, who defeated Senator James P. Pope, New Deal senate leader, in Idaho's primary increased today to more than 3,000 votes as returns continued to come in.

"Backed by many high administration officials although without the public endorsement of President Roosevelt, Pope fell behind almost with beginning of vote tabulations and continued to lose ground throughout the counting."

The junior senator, in charge of agricultural matters for the New Deal in the upper house, has conceded defeat but declared he would "continue to support the principles for which I stand."

Complete vote of 742 of the state's 802 precincts gave Clark 42,367 and Pope 39,012.

Crop Prospects In State Good

Despite Severe Storms Crops Throughout State Are In Fine Shape

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 11.—Despite severe storms on southeastern Pennsylvania, crop prospects throughout the state are good, the Federal State Crop Reporting Service announced here today.

While hay, potatoes, oats and wheat were damaged, the losses will not affect statewide production as much as anticipated.

The month of July was hot and wet, but rainfall was poorly distributed throughout the state as a whole, the southeastern area receiving most of the rains. The southwestern, central and northwestern sections suffered sub-normal precipitation.

Corn, winter wheat and oats crops were reported to be very good although winter wheat and oats were damaged to some extent by the rains in the southeastern section. The barley harvest was excellent and the stands in buckwheat were seen as good. Potatoes suffered from eastern rains and blight infested vines in the Lehigh area. The tobacco crop was good with early yields further advanced than usual.

Fruits throughout the state developed satisfactorily with apples, peaches and cherries reported very good. Fire blight on pears appeared to be bad and brown rot was expected to spread due to wet weather.

Dollar Day Draws Crowd Downtown

Throngs Attracted By Economy Price Savings Fill Stores Today

"Dollar Day" today drew throngs of shoppers into downtown New Castle as bright skies and a cooling breeze combined to give merchants one of their busiest sales days in many months.

Reports from scattered stores indicated the buying was heavy everywhere. Streets were crowded.

"It should be a very successful Dollar Day for the city," Lew J. Miller, president of the Retail Merchants' Association, reported. "The crowds are large, and people are buying. The weather should not spoil it."

The retail merchants' organization sponsored the sales event.

Resignations Of Others Accepted, Three Take Sabbatical Leave

BOARD APPROVES TRANSFER OF TWO

Election of a school nurse and three new school teachers for the 1938-39 term, acceptance of resignations of three teachers, the transfer of two teachers and the granting of sabbatical leaves to three others—two for health reasons and one for continued study—came at the four-hour meeting of the board of education in the Administration Building, East street, last night.

Name Nurse

Miss Katharine Melvin was again chosen as school nurse at a salary of $1,100, after Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, submitted to the board in writing his reasons for urging the election of a nurse.

"A school nurse in New Castle," Dr. Green pointed out, "is not merely one who assists the school physician in the routine examination of school children. While the doctor is examining the children one nurse assists him. Only about one-sixth of the time of the three nurses is given to that work. The remaining five-sixths of their time is given to health service and health instruction to our 11,000 children."

The school board described the nurse "as a guardian of health" and termed her "a very important part of our organization."

Miss Melvin, graduated in 1929 from Senior high school, received her nurse's training at Jameson Memorial Hospital, graduating in 1934. She has had one year of special training at the New York hospital in New York, and this summer is enrolled in special courses for nurses at Duquesne University.

Delaware County Real Estate Agent Stages Fatal Shooting In His Home

(International News Service)
MEDIA, Pa., Aug. 11.—While two sons slept in adjoining rooms, Andrew Ford, 47, Delaware county real estate and insurance agent, today killed his sleeping wife and then committed suicide, police reported.

The shotgun blast that killed their mother at close range awakened the youths—Walter, 21, and Wesley, 18—but before they could intervene a second report rang out. It was still echoing through the modest residence at Bortondale, about three miles south of Media, when the youths entered their parents' bedroom and found:

Their father lying on his back over his twin bed, the shotgun on the floor nearby.

Their mother, Ethel, 43, lying on her side in the other twin bed, killed by a shot fired at close range.

Extortion Plot Shown In Trial Against Carroll

Charge Ex-Deputy Sheriff Had Paul Dwyer Write Two Letters

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Aug. 11.—A statement signed by Paul N. Dwyer, 19, designed to show that ex-Deputy Sheriff Francis M. Carroll at one time tried to involve him in a $50,000 extortion plot, aimed at the richest man in South Paris, was read to the jury here today.

Carroll is on trial charged with the murder of Dr. James G. Littlefield—a crime for which young Dwyer is now serving a life term in the state prison at Thomaston.

The "extortion plot," according to the Dwyer statement, occurred prior to the Littlefield killing. At that time, Dwyer was the sweetheart of Carroll's 17-year-old daughter, Barbara.

The attorney general of Maine, Franz U. Burkett, was called to the stand so the defense could bring out the fantastic story of the "extortion plot." Burkett is co-counsel

Mystery Transport Liner Left Germany Wednesday Afternoon Unannounced

BENNETT FIELD PREPARES WELCOME

Sighted Off Newfoundland In Less Than Ten Hours After Start

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Flying non-stop from Berlin to New York, the huge German Condor sky liner at 2 o'clock (EDT) this afternoon was 30 miles northeast of Boston flying 2,000 feet up.

Using the call letters DACON, the plane talked with the Chatham station of the Radio Marine Corporation and the station of Tropical Radio at Hingham.

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Officials at Floyd Bennett airport, crossroads of the air, made hasty preparations today to receive another crew of Atlantic fliers as a German transport plane which left Staaken airdrome secretly at 1:35 p. m., E. D. T., yesterday, was reported over Newfoundland en route to New York.

Crew Of Four

The big 36-passenger Condor was carrying a crew of four when it went aloft at dusk and headed west, and not until it had reached the Newfoundland coast and reported its position by radio did the German air ministry announce the trans-Atlantic flight.

Caught unawares, the Floyd Bennett field administration which in recent weeks had received Howard Hughes and his crew of round the world fliers and seen Douglas Corrigan take off for his "wrong direction" flight, began immediate preparations for the arrival of the big 14-ton ship which has a cruising speed of 304 miles per hour.

There were two schools of thought at the field concerning the plans of the German skipper. One faction was guessing he would refuel and take off within a short time on a return flight to Germany. Another group argued the possibility that the German craft might continue to the west coast, and thence to Alaska, Japan and back to Germany in an effort to best the Hughes round the world record.

Princeton School Reunion Tuesday

The annual reunion and picnic outing for former students and teachers of Princeton school, will be held on Tuesday, August 16, at the Princeton High school building. It will be in the form of an all day affair, with dinner being served at noon.

Arthur Mometer

My appetite is not so bad, I eat the things I think I need, but now and then at picnic dates, I take on board a lot of food, that tastes too good to be passed by, that tempts the tongue and hits the eye, and then my good friends dye and dye I notice bulging near the waist. They pass me pickles and some beans, potato salad and some greens, a lot of cake and thick ice cream, a sort of gastronomic dream. And afterwards I always say, not that again, eighty six today.

City Awaits Parade Of Elks, August 25

Convention Plans About Completed

New Castle To Witness One Of Largest Conventions Here In Years

FOUR-DAY PROGRAM FULL OF FEATURES

Two weeks from today—Thursday, August 25—the footpats of marching Elks and the spine-tingling music of flashy bands and drum corps will echo through New Castle's downtown section as the Pennsylvania State Elks' Association, closing a four-day convention—expected to bring huge crowds here, unfolds the biggest, gayest, jolliest and most colorful street parade this city has seen.

The tramp, tramp, tramp of the marching "Elks" and their ladies will continue for some time throughout the afternoon. Spectators, by the carloads and trainloads and busloads, will be on hand to enjoy it.

Largest Convention Here
Probably the largest state convention New Castle has ever thrown wide its doors for the mammoth Elks affair, opening unofficially Sunday, August 21 and officially Tuesday, August 23, will draw delegates from lodges all over the Keystone state and from lodges in surrounding states.

To New Castle that week will come notable Elks from various sections of the country. They will come to speak and to share the frivolity which attends an Elks' state convention. There will be both work and play for them.

Committees Kept Busy
Laboring to shape things for the arrival of the convention throngs are hard-working lodge committees serving under the general chairmanship of Clark H. Buell. There are a variety of committees—and each has its special work to do.

Before the convention week comes the downtown streets will assume a festive carnival air, for the New Castle Elks, hosts to the convention, have arranged for one of the most elaborate street decorations ever attempted here.

While the committee planning is rapidly progressing, leaders took time out today to briefly outline the program which will entertain and interest the throngs over the five-day period from Sunday, the 21st, until the convention parade on Thursday, the 25th.

Special trains, over different roads, will operate into the city on the parade day, bringing participating bands, marching groups and just plain "spectators."

RUSSO-JAP SCRAP SILENCED PENDING ARMISTICE PLANS
The Soviet government has publicly and irrevocably committed itself to yield an inch of the frontier, based on the Hunchung treaty with China, which gives Changkufeng Hill and other nearby disputed—and highly strategic—territory to the U. S. S. R.

Soviet View—Or Else
Therefore the Soviet Union will not be able to accept any Japanese proposals based on any alteration of the boundary lines laid down in the Hunchung treaty. It is felt here that if the Japanese fail to come to the Soviet point of view, the issue eventually will be settled by bullets, not words.

In the meanwhile, diplomats of both countries are trying to get together without further recourse to force of arms.
Litvinov and the Japanese envoy agreed in their last conference that the fighting should cease at noon today.

They also agreed that both the Russian and Japanese forces should remain in the positions they occupied at midnight, Aug. 10.
According to an official Soviet communique, the Japanese ambassador failed to agree to a Soviet proposal for appointment of an arbitrator from a third nation to aid in the task of redemarcation of the border.

Regarding this communique stated:
"Litvinov pointed out the most effective guarantee of reaching an agreement would be the presence on the committee of a disinterested third party. But he did not insist upon this arbitrator, whom Shigemitsu opposed."

The communique said the fourth Russian point, that the committee work on the basis of maps bearing the signatures of officials of Russia and China, also was agreed upon.

Rosena dam, which was removed a number of years ago. A few of our older citizens can remember seeing canal boats moored in the old canal bed between the dam site and the Jefferson street bridge, but there are few, if any living, who operated the boats. In early days canal carried freight between here and Pittsburgh. It is said that these boats could carry a cargo of from sixty to seventy tons.

People who imagine that they are not paying their share of the huge tax bill will be interested in the report of a large insurance company which reveals that about 14 cents of every dollar of wages in industry during the past year was paid in "hidden taxes." The survey was limited to families with an income of $2500 per year or less. Separate taxes paid by the consumer at time of purchase numbered 87 in most states, and as high as 95 in states having special sales tax laws. This crushing burden upon wages is one of the principal causes of the continuing business depression.

One of the historical points of interest in Lawrence county, which still attracts many visitors every summer, is the old Willie Roy furnace at Rose Point. The stone stack of this furnace stands a short distance south of the bridge over the Slippery Rock creek. The furnace was named after William and Roy Politz, pioneer residents of New Castle, who operated it for many years. Iron ore was dug near the furnace, as well as limestone. Pig iron was hauled to New Castle on wagons.

Star gazers may soon get a glimpse of a comet, which is heading toward the earth, and which has not paid us a visit for one hundred years. The last comet to put on a real show was known as Halley's comet, which illuminated the eastern sky some years ago. There have been some, as the comets since, but none to compare in brightness with Halley's, which had a tail thousands of miles long, although it did not appear that long from the earth.

Yesterday, we saw a dozen two months old pigs in a truck near a butcher shop on West Long avenue. They had begun to pant because of being huddled together and the hot weather. Soon the butcher appeared and told the driver to get going, as the animals were getting warm. They were going to be changed into pork chops.

On a lawn out Croton avenue, we saw two ladies attired in "sun uniforms" taking a sun bath. One was sitting on a tree stump with a parasol over her head. They said they had no time to go to the seashore.

voters yesterday that he hoped U. S. Attorney Lawrence Camp would be the state's next senator.
This afternoon Mr. Roosevelt was making a second speech at Barnesville, Ga., and his aides freely predicted he would then "go down the line" for Camp and "crack down hard" on George.
Stunt Politics.
In accepting the university degree, however, the president carefully refrained from any direct politics. He contented himself with a studious dissertation on the economic problems of the south and an assertion that his administration, through the wage-hour bill and other legislation, had moved toward solving those problems.

"In the long run," said Mr. Roosevelt, "the best way for your national government to assist state and local educational objectives is to tackle the national aspects of economic problems—to eliminate discriminations between one part of the country and another—to raise purchasing power and thereby create wealth in those sections where it is far too low."

And in conclusion, the president barred another political shaft.
"At heart," George shows devotion to the principles of democracy," he declared. "It has occasional lapses, but it really does not believe either in demagoguery or feudalism dressed up in Democratic clothes."

George Silent.
Meanwhile, it was indicated at the campaign headquarters of Senator George that he would make no reply to President Roosevelt's request that Georgia elect Camp until after the chief executive leaves the state. The senator will be present at both the president's speeches today, at Athens and Barnesville, it was said.

In a radio address yesterday, delivered shortly before President Roosevelt called for Camp's election, Senator George vigorously denied Camp's campaign charges that Sen. George is aligned with "big business."

"Peanut politicians," he declared, were responsible for the charges, which he termed "slandorous or ignorant misrepresentations."
Citing his votes for vocational education, banking reform and deposit insurance, mobilization of the gold reserve and control of stock and commodity exchanges, Sen. George declared:

"I was fighting then—intelligently I hope—for every small businessman in this nation."
Atlanta Mayor.
Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 11—Mayor William B. Hartsfield of Atlanta today made a futile effort to warn President Roosevelt against "making an error" in the state political war.

Appearing at the terminal station here today as the presidential special passed through the city en route to Athens, Ga., Mayor Hartsfield was frustrated in his attempt to speak to Marvin McIntyre, one of the president's secretaries.
When the mayor knocked on the door of the "office car," a secret service agent appeared.

"Mr. Mayor Hartsfield, and I'd like to see Mack," the mayor said. Told that McIntyre was asleep and had left orders not to be disturbed, Mayor Hartsfield said: "I just wanted to tell him that Georgia is still for George and to warn the president against making an error in the state political war."

for the state at the present trial. He was questioned by former Attorney General Clyde R. Chapman, who is chief counsel for the defense.
Burkett testified that on June 2 of this year he accompanied Charles E. Pelletier, special agent of the federal bureau of identification, to the state prison at Thomaston, where Pelletier interviewed Dwyer. Burkett said he went along because Dwyer had previously informed Pelletier he would talk about the matter only in the presence of the attorney general.

"Dwyer's statement was reduced to writing," Burkett said.
After conference between the lawyers and Judge William H. Fisher, Dwyer's statement was finally read to the jury. In it Dwyer said Carroll prevailed upon him to borrow a typewriter and type out two "extortion letters."

The letters were addressed to George Morton, owner of the Paris Manufacturing company. The first one demanded $50,000 and informed him of what happened to plants in Massachusetts when money demanded by the "organization" sending the letters was not paid. The second letter reduced the amount demanded to $25,000.

WEDDING SHOWER FOR MRS. GEORGE COWDEN

Mrs. George Cowden, nee Margaret Blight, whose marriage was recently announced, was pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening with a wedding shower given in her honor by Mrs. M. E. Thorn, 407 Boyles avenue.

Evening hours were spent in a social manner, games forming the pastimes.

During the evening, Mrs. Cowden received a telegram instructing her to open the dining room doors. She did so, thus revealing a white umbrella, suspended from the chandelier in which she found a collection of beautiful and useful gifts. Directly underneath the umbrella, centering the table, was a lovely three-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom and flanked on either side by tall white tapers. Mrs. Thorn was aided by her mother, Mrs. F. W. Tyler, in serving a tasty lunch.

There were 15 present to share the festivities.

Micco-Casalandra Wedding In Church

Miss Carolyn Micco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patsy Micco of Beatty avenue, wore a distinctive imported gown brought here from California for her marriage this morning, to Nick Casalandra, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Casalandra of South Mill street, the ceremony having taken place in St. Vitus church, in the presence of several hundred guests, at 9:30 o'clock. The Rev. Fr. Herbert Buterback officiated.

The gown was of a Lumara satin made with long shirred sleeves and full skirt with long train and draped effect at the neckline. Her veil of all tulle was lavishly sprinkled with Forget-Me-Not, and was caught with a Juliet cap of silk net with garlands of crystal orange blossoms at either side. Her arm bouquet was of valley lilies and white roses, with matching streamers. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Frances Tomassello as maid of honor, wore a blue chiffon gown with puffed sleeves "V" neckline, with toe length skirt. Her accessories were of shell pink and her turban matched. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Miss Louise Micco, sister of the bride and Miss Theresa Casella, niece of the groom were bridesmaids. They wore identical floor length gowns of peach satin with shirred waists, puffed sleeves and Peter Pan collars. They carried matching peach satin muffs, increased with Johanna Hill roses.

The groom had as best man John Frank, of this city.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lacko, organist, played appropriate music preceding and during the ceremony. The church altar was beautifully decorated with pyramids of flowers, with a background of palms and ferns and set off in the glow of Cathedral candles.

The couple received congratulations immediately afterwards, and later, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of her parents. The bride table was appointed in all white, with a tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, forming the centerpiece. The rooms throughout were decorated with baskets of choice flowers of the season.

Those who served as aides, were Mrs. Sam Tomassello, Mrs. Joseph Panella, Mrs. Andrew Micco and Mrs. Eli Falconi, the latter of Youngstown.

This evening, a reception will be held at the Micco residence for the young couple, and later, they will depart on a wedding trip to Detroit, Mich., and other places of interest. For traveling, she will wear a Navy and dusty pink crepe ensemble with accessories to match. Her shoulder bouquets will harmonize. Upon returning, they will be at home at 436 North Cascade street.

The bride is affiliated with the Maranoff Dress Shop on Mill St. and Croton avenue, and the groom, also is associated with the same establishments in the capacity of manager.

This evening, an informal lawn reception will be held at the Micco residence at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Micco wore for her daughter's wedding, a black and white dotted crepe and matching accessories, and the groom's mother was attired in a navy crepe. Both wore shoulder bouquets to harmonize.

In an upstairs room, an array of wedding and shower gifts received by the couple, were on display. She has been feted at numerous showers and parties, since the news of their engagement was made known.

Out of town guests at the wedding were present from Detroit, Mich., Pittsburgh, and Youngstown, Ohio.

At the appointing hour, the youthful guests were ushered to their seats around the attractively decorated table, which was centered with a beautiful birthday cake. Appointments were carried out in green and yellow. A dainty lunch was served by the honoree's grandmothers, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hitchings, assisted by Mary Elizabeth Hopkins and Zella Bradford.

Mrs. C. G. Linder was a special guest for the affair, and Jimmy Drake, of McKeesport, an out-of-town guest.

Conn, Anna Wood, Marian Patterson and Mrs. Kathryn Kilbreath. Members of the families of members were also special guests of the occasion.

WITHIN LESS THAN A WEEK

FOR several weeks the most alarming reports come from Europe with respect to plans of the German government. Although there are some minor variations, they are to the general effect that on August 15, or some time during the week, the Nazi armies will sweep over the border of Czechoslovakia and repeat the coup through which Austria was annexed. These reports come from many sources, and most of them are supported by what seem to be significant facts.

Large stores of military supplies have been assembled at strategic locations along the border. Tanks and planes and other mobile equipment have been placed at advantageous locations. Troops, the pick of the armies of Germany and Austria are prepared for the invasion. In all other respects, reports indicate, the stage is set.

There is enough tangible evidence at hand to prove that the Nazi government is poised for a threat, that it is at least prepared for another of those colossal bluffs that have been so singularly successful in the past, that have served to recover the Ruhr and the occupied Rhineland, to rearm the Reich and to annex Austria.

Nevertheless, it seems incredible that Germany, whose position, in spite of many elements of apparent power, is so seriously weak and precarious, will risk the danger of another world war in the hope that Hitler's dream of a mighty empire may be brought closer to realization.

It may be that the fears arising from the strained relationship between the Czechs and the Germans are excessive. The British are reported as being calm and quiet. The Czechs are calm and are resting on their rifles. The rest of the world will wait rather anxiously to learn whether the sparks that fly over the Far East and Spain will fall upon Central Europe.

A LITTLE TIRESOME

The American public has been quite tolerant and patient with the publicity methods of the Hollywood producers who have undertaken production of "Gone With the Wind." It has whipped up an interest in the selection of players for the two principal roles, Scarlett O'Hara and Rhett Butler, has engaged in speculation and controversy and in other ways has lent its co-operation to the sweet uses of publicity.

When Miss Shearer was chosen for Scarlett and Clark Gable for Rhett there was a natural assumption that the end of the controversial aspects of production had been written and that the actual appearance of the film could be awaited with undisturbed equanimity.

But the whole business, it seems, is to start all over again. The serene and beautiful Miss Shearer has decided that the role of the fiery, unscrupulous Scarlett is not suited to her personality and talents, and has declined it. Clark Gable is torn by doubts. He questions whether it will be possible to interpret satisfactorily a role which several hundred thousand readers have already interpreted to their own satisfaction.

The Hollywood producers are reasonably shrewd. It is time they began to reckon with the danger that the public has had to hear so much of "Gone With the Wind" it will be weary of the very mention of the name long before the film appears. Even now the whole question is becoming somewhat of a bore and there would be no future of indignation if Jane Withers and Mickey Rooney were assigned the coveted roles.

STRIKE OFF THE NECKBAND!

If, as they say, July is a most precarious month for flaring tempers and the declaring of wars—what of August?

In this latter month occur those dreaded "dog days," days of steaming muck and lamper. No wonder man even bites dog, goaded, as he is, by the heavy vestments of civilization and custom will him to wear willingly.

This year of grace has furnished unprecedented stickiness and humidity, a proper time to rebel against the hampering effects of collar, tie and belt.

But, just as the men whose wives were at shore or lake began their undeclared war on tight-buttoned neck-band and choking silken halter, down cracked the mighty Mussolini on all such doings within the sartorial realm.

So, unless our men folk ignore this latest dictum, docile necks everywhere will continue to be garotted, and the "dog days" will find mankind snapping in futile rage—all because a dictator chooses to dictate what the sweltering male shall wear.

The Parent Problem

AFTER JEREMY HAD LIED

I hope you have read "Jeremy," by Hugh Walpole (published in 1919). If you have, you will recall that this eight-year-old lad had a tragic experience with Jampot the nurse. You remember with what excited eagerness Jeremy had looked forward to attending the Christmas Pantomime of Dick Whittington.

On the morning of the eventful day, Jeremy was so excited that he forgot to brush his teeth and even said he had without realizing that he had not, when Jampot asked him if he had. Then her stern, accusing looks and answer made the boy resolve, once he discovered that he really had reported wrong, to stick to that he said.

The usual type of inquisition followed, after which the father, a clergyman, arrived, and in a sanctimonious manner tried to compel the boy to apologize.

"I'm sorry that I told a lie, but I'm not sorry I called the nurse a beastly woman," answered Jeremy (and she was).

Jeremy stood his ground, despite the fact that he was given the alternative to apologize or stay home alone from the pantomime. Now recall the scene of Jeremy left all alone at home with his dog, sobbing as if his heart would break. After about 15 minutes something happened; his Uncle Samuel suddenly appeared, told the lad that the family had sent for him, rushed Jeremy to the theater, and back home after the pantomime, before the remainder arrived. Then to Jeremy's amazement he learned that Uncle Samuel had not been sent back by the parents at all.

Boy Was Happy
"He went slowly upstairs to the nursery, the happiest boy in the kingdom. But through all his happiness there was this puzzle: Uncle Sam had told a lie, and no one had thought that it mattered. The were good lies and bad ones. Or was it that grown-up people could tell lies and children mustn't?"

In the first place Jampot had driven the child to lie. Then she had made a mountain out of a molehill. Secondly, the preacher father had used bad judgment, making of himself an orge, and prosecuting with Jampot the tattling accusation. Worst of all, he had tried to force apology. Had the lad obeyed he might have been merely a hypocrite. Then the punishment assigned was not announced as a penalty before the "offense" had been committed. It was ex post facto.

When your child looks forward to a definite pleasure such as this event in which Jeremy had lived with expectation for days and days, don't be so cruel as to keep the child from it, if in the meanwhile he has done some wrong. If you are sure he must be punished, punish him, but not by taking such unjust and barbarous advantage of him, just because you have the power to do so.

ENGLISH MEMORY
Into an English churchyard with tombstones old and new
Time was my mother took me, as English mothers do.

Though I was but a youngster I Still recall that she
Was proudly introducing the family's dead to me.

"Now here's your great-grandfather," I still can hear her say.
"An upright man and stalwart and honored in his day.
And here's his elder brother beneath this grassy mound
He lived to five and eighty and owed no man a pound."

"Just yonder is your uncle? The family boasts in pride King himself came calling the day before he died."
Thus round about she led me, as now I still recall,
And read their names and told me the glories of them all.

"Is strange that I've forgotten, I've been so long away,
The living English comrades with whom I used to play;
The jakes, the homes, the gardens forgotten are and yet
That little English churchyard I never can forget."

The nervous little man with the trick mustache glanced hurriedly at his watch, grabbed his bag and rushed out to the station platform. The effect on the other travelers was all that could be desired. Perhaps there were baby bees at home that would starve if papa bee did not bring back honey; and how useful the little creature was, carrying pollen from flower to flower—so I moved on, leaving him unmolested. But even as I turned away thinking these pure, sweet thoughts, the damned thing stung me.

Discuss Dewey For President
Two "Ifs" In Way Says Stewart
Other Possibilities Outlined

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Republican politicians are increasing by talking of Thomas E. Dewey as G. O. P. presidential possibility in 1940.

The suggestion, however, is qualified by a conspicuous "if." Two "ifs," in fact.

If Dewey, as district attorney of New York county, succeeds in convicting James J. Hines, prominent Tammanyite, of tampering with New York judges and other officials, in an effort to protect the late "Dutch" Schultz's "policy racket," it is forecast that the then victorious prosecutor almost certainly will be named by the Empire State Republicans as their candidate for the governorship. That is one "if."

If Dewey convicts Hines, and is nominated for the governorship, he will need to be elected in order to rate as presidential material. If he does convict Hines, is gubernatorial nominated and then is beaten for the Albany state house his defeat will flatten him out presidentially. That is the second "if." If Dewey is elected governor of New York.

HAS HIS POINTS

Presidentially speaking, Dewey has his candidatorial points graphically.

He is not the type of New Yorker who does not realize that the United States extends somewhat to the westward of the Hudson river. He has lived in Manhattan long enough to satisfy eastern prejudice, but he is a transplantation there—from Michigan. The west is entitled to claim him, too.

He is not particularly identified with the New Deal, either.

New Dealership is the weakness of Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York City, who also is a bit presidentially mentioned as a Republican White House hope. Like Dewey, La Guardia is only an adopted New Yorker. He was born and grew up in Arizona and knows as well as Dewey that this country has a west. Moreover, he has toured the west recently, maybe hinting that he was trying to cultivate it politically. Likewise he has held office (Continued On Page Five)

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

TEMPERANCE

After being ordained in the ministry of the Nazarene Church last fall, the Rev. Mr. Brenner received a call to hold revival meetings in the Ozark Mountain town of Marquette, Missouri.

Arriving in the town, he could find no meeting place and was about to give up when he met Murphy Myers, local tavern-keeper, with whom he made a strange bargain. Every night the sale of drinks in Myers' tavern is suspended while the revivalist holds services in it. Tables are pushed to the sides and benches and chairs placed in rows in the middle of the floor, and the meeting gets under way. People come from miles around and the town is usually crowded. After the benediction, tables and chairs are replaced, and drinks are sold again.

I found the above story in a newspaper, but I know a better one than that.

At New Haven, Connecticut, there was a dealer in liquors, Huey Reynolds, by name. He had a beautiful liquor store. He was, I believe, in the sixth Reynolds in line who had had a liquor store in New Haven.

An ancestor brought from France, England or some other great stock of wines and some of the original wines were still in Huey's cellar in 1903—the last time I visited his place of business. It was a great cellar, with a ceiling about eighteen feet—high enough to house the great turns in which his ancestor had brought the wines to America. He had there whiskies of most any distillation. I remember he had Old Crow, forty-two years old. In the case of his very large place of business he had fitted up an oak-paneled room, with a great fireplace, upon which was a spit. This room was entirely reserved for Yale Freshmen. No others were ever supposed to come in except perhaps the friends of Yale Freshmen, as Freshmen were not permitted until Washington's Birthday to visit the famous Mory's Ale House. That was reserved for upper classes.

There was a little platform beside the great fireplace and every Saturday night, promptly at nine o'clock, Huey would appear and all was quiet. For ten minutes Huey delivered a real temperance lecture and this was about the gist of it:

"You young men are here at Yale on your own. You are trusted by your parents to do the things you ought to do while you are in Yale. They and Yale expect you to live a sober, industrious life here, as well as to enjoy all the pleasures of happy companionship with other Yale men. Neither your parents nor Yale expect you to become drunkards. I have for sale here, not only ales and beers, but wines and liquors. I strongly advise you to let the liquor alone. Stick to your ales and beers and if you pocketbook allows it, wine at some time or other. I hope never to see one of you leave this place under the influence of alcohol—drunk, in other words."

And those Yale freshmen listened and benefited by as wonderful a temperance address as was ever given. Seldom was it necessary to assist any man pressed to his room and when on those few occasions it was necessary, the young men was told by his friends that they would put him into "Coventry" if it ever happened again.

Excessive humidity in many parts of the nation this summer has meant many thousands of dollars in extra profit to the U. S. post office department. Unused stamps by the millions either stuck together or stuck to other objects, rendering them valueless. And try and get your money back. . . . Don't get excited about it, but the drug trade has been advised that soon or later there's likely to be a shortage of slippery elm in the U. S. (As long as it isn't gin, you probably don't care.)

Merchants and other business men may be interested to know that they can easily get into a libel suit by sending a pointed letter to a customer, urging him to pay an overdue account. . . . You had better always speak gingerly "just deets" when communicating with a debtor.)

Complacent indeed are the Chinese as a race. For advice received in Hollywood state that despite all the Sino-Japanese war turmoil the bombings and everything, Canton and Hong Kong, among other affected areas, is markedly above a year ago. Today's favorite garb: FOREMAN—"Your physique is so small, do you think you are fit for really hard work?" APPLICANT—"Well, sir, some of the best judges in the country have said so."

It's a gift: Nearly all replies have a special sense which causes them to go instinctively to the water, no matter how far away it may be. . . . Bon mot scriped from somewhere: "He speaks Esperanto like a native."

Sharpshooting champ: Elton Hogsett, pitching for the St. Louis Browns two seasons ago, set an adverse mark for all future big league pitchers to shoot at—in six innings he remained in the box, he hit four batters with pitched balls. . . . Taking its cue from the automotive industry, which promoted a National Used Car Week so successfully last spring, the movie magnates will shoot $250,000 this fall, chiefly in newspapers, to put over a cooperative "Attend the Movies" drive.

Another myth in smithereens: Nevada may be in the rough and woolly West, where men are men and the gals are pretty tough, too, but 93 per cent of all its babies in urban centers are born in hospitals—the highest percentage established by any of the 48 states.

Language of speaking: The war between the States started and ended in virtually the same place. The first important battle, Bull Run, was fought in part on the Wilmer McLean farm and it was in the McLean farmhouse that Leo surrendered.

This is a fine time to bring up the subject, but in Andover, Mass., there is what is known as a frost pocket, which, during extremely cold weather will register a temperature of from 15 to 20 degrees lower than surrounding sections.

One plant, the piper nigrum, is the source of both black and white pepper. If black pepper's wanted, the grower picks the stuff while it's green and dries it whole, either by smoking it or exposing it to the sun. If white pepper's desired, he allows it to ripen, then removes the hard outer husk before drying. . . . Kiwanis Enjoys Annual Picnic

Club Host Enjoys Outing At Water Plant; See Station Operating

The shaded picnic grounds of the New Castle Water company's pump station along the Shenango river was the scene Wednesday afternoon and evening of one of the merriest outings of Kiwanis club members and their wives and sons and daughters.

Nearly 80 enjoyed the outdoor festivities. They enjoyed informal sports before and after the big picnic dinner in the evening.

With B. French Johnson, the program chairman of the Kiwanis club and the chief chemist of the water firm, as their guide, the Kiwanians and their guests inspected operations of the water plant. For many of them it was the first visit.

At dinner President Orville Potter presented to Johnson a large birthday cake, provided by Mrs. Johnson. It happens that today is the picnic chairman's birthday.

Musical features added to the entertainment.

On August 24 the Kiwanis families will participate in their annual corn roast at the Marvin-Andrews-Falls cottage on the Neshannock creek.

Finger-Prints Trap Man Here

Arrest Grows Out Of Finger-Prints Taken By Local Officer

Value of finger-prints was again established clearly when Chief of Detectives Ray Showalter and investigator John Young of the city police department arrested a man who gave his name as George Walls, colored, at the airport. He has been living at 818 West North street. His arrest was asked by Washington, Pa., police.

Some time ago Showalter finger-printed Walls following the latter's arrest and the finger-prints went to the federal bureau of identification at Washington, D. C. In the meantime the man obtained his freedom.

A copy of the finger-prints later were sent to Washington, Pa., and the police there discovered Walls was wanted there for some time.

Showalter said today he did not know the exact charge Washington, Pa., held against Walls.

Officers will come here today to return the man to Washington, Pa.

under the Republican label off and on.

But every time La Guardia is Republicanly presidentially proposed conservative Republicans answer, "No sir, he's a red."

SEEN AS NON-PARTISAN

Personally I do not think that La Guardia is, indeed, a "red."

Still, there is consistency in the Republican claim that he is not much of a Republican. He avowedly is in sympathy with the New Deal. He therefore would be a peculiar presidential selection for Republicans who want an anti-New Deal candidate. Incidentally he served a term or two in congress as a Socialist. He is identified now with the American Labor party. He is a Fusionist when occasion serves.

The truth is he is non-partisan. All this is all right "by me," but I can see why old-line Republicans (or Democrats) wouldn't choose him as their standard bearer.

Dewey, as yet, seems to be regularly Republican enough.

SOME POSSIBILITIES

If the Democrats were to nominate comparatively conservative Bennett Champ Clark in 1940 and if the Republicans were to nominate La Guardia, the voters would have a selection between two opposing philosophies.

But if the Democrats renominated "F. D." or nominate some other New Dealer and the Republicans nominate La Guardia, conservatives will have nowhere to go.

Of course the Republicans could nominate, say, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan. Vandenberg, if you ask me, would be a mighty good president—liberal, but not overly radical; reasonably cautious but no Tory. However, I have my doubts that he has the qualities to make a formidable run.

Monal Grange master, L. J. Taber, of Columbus, O.

The Grangers were welcomed by Fred L. Rentz, president of The News company, who had been present at the first gathering of its kind, in 1928. Mr. Rentz was introduced by W. Sharp Fullerton, Pomona master.

Mr. Rentz told the Grangers that he felt doubly honored in being asked to speak to them on this occasion. Raised on a farm, he spent the first 14 years of his life there, and even after he had gone out into the world to make his own way, lived on the farm until he attained his majority and married, walking two and a half miles from town to the farm after his day's work in the print shop was over, to help on the farm until dark, so that he knew their problems and sympathized with them.

He recalled a number of humorous incidents in connection with his association with farm life, concluding with the thought that if there was ever a place in Pennsylvania that Grangers would always be there, welcome it would be the farm of his friend, J. Audley Boak, in behalf of whom he bid them thrice welcome.

Mr. Boak was then presented by Mr. Fullerton and expressed his appreciation of the fact that so many had responded to the invitation to gather at his place, and expressed the hope that the day would be one filled with enjoyment for all.

Six Generations

He stated that there was now the sixth generation of the Boak family on this same farm. His only regret in the pride of possession of the old homestead was the fact that recorded in Washington was a mortgage of $16,500 against his life, which had been placed there through no fault of his. This represented the per capita debt of $445 which the government of this country has permitted to pile up against every man, woman and child in the nation, and that as 15 people resided on the farm, the invisible mortgage amounted to that figure.

He spoke kindly of Mr. Rentz, saying that the Grangers were proud to have a man who has stood up for his principles during his lifetime, principles which have not permitted the printing of liquor advertisements in The News to the loss of business amounting to a possible quarter of a million dollars.

He stated that he had received messages of greeting from the Grange masters of New York, New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia and Ohio.

He expressed the enjoyment he felt at being given the opportunity of presenting the speaker of the day, and expressed the hope that when the audience was looking into the face of the speaker that they should "not only be looking into the face of the national Grange head, but also into the face of the next President of the United States."

The statement was given an ovation by the Grangers, who stood and cheered when Mr. Taber arose to speak.

National Head

Mr. Taber stated that he had a philosophy of recovery which he wished to expound, one that he had entitled "The Four Horsemen of Recovery."

America, he stated, was the greatest nation on the face of the earth. While it represented but six per cent of the earth's surface and seven per cent of its population, it possessed 75 per cent of the world's machinery, almost 80 per cent of its automobiles, 60 per cent of the world's telephones, and in 20 great commodities measuring progress produces or consumes from 40 to 72 per cent of the world's total.

"Yet, in spite of all this, there is a spirit of unrest in the country," he asserted. "Things are not right and we know it."

He stated that there are four great horsemen that can push back the boundaries of doubt and confusion and open up new frontiers of opportunity.

These are agriculture, labor, business, and the consumer.

From the farm, he stated, comes food, clothing, and shelter. But the farmer is not a miracle worker. He cannot buy unless he can sell. While agriculture represents 30 per cent of the nation's population, and while 70 per cent of all the things used in commerce start from the farm, yet in the past ten years, agriculture has received only ten per cent of the total income of the nation.

He advocated giving to the American farmer the American market for all things that can be efficiently produced in this country. It does not make sense he asserted to reduce the production at home and permit increased importation from abroad.

He further urged reduction of production costs through fair freight rates, taxation and low interest; maintenance of a soil conservation program; utilization of the nation's natural resources for the good of all people; development of new, non-food uses for farm products; amendment of reciprocal treaties to prevent the landing of any commodity in this country below the American cost of production; maintenance of a sound farm program in the hands of farmers themselves; maintenance of adequate appropriations for Education, Extension Research and Vocational Education; placing of emphasis on national development and requirement that all public projects be completed with efficiency and due interest to the future taxpayer as well as the need of providing work.

Live Within Income

The program will fail, however, he asserted unless we learn to live within our income and balance our budget by tax structure based on ability to pay and benefits received.

Referring to labor, he asserted that everything there is in the world and all that will be comes from toil of head and hand and heart. It is an honor to have courage to declare that work is the foundation of wealth. Labor must have a larger place in the civilization of the years ahead.

Business, the third horseman, is but labor in stored form, he stated, and like human muscle, capital must have wages and today, the wages of capital must be sufficient to provide an income that will pay the tax burden that is crushing it.

The fourth and most important horseman of all, the consumer, must not be neglected. She is the woman with the market basket who spends the family income. When the consumer buys, prosperity returns.

Above all, there must be teamwork between the four groups, working with the government, and it is time that we take the responsibility, whenever they forget selfishness and class interest, whenever we quit hating each other, whenever we apply the economics of the Golden Rule, recovery will be at hand, he said.

Need Revival

But, he asserted in conclusion, we must not overlook the fact that we must have recovery in both moral and spiritual values. Our nation, he said, needs a good old-fashioned religious and patriotic revival. When this comes, it will bring with it prosperity and recovery that will endure.

Mr. Taber paid high tribute to the splendid leadership which the Pennsylvania Grange has enjoyed under J. Audley Boak, the host of the afternoon. He said the ideal of the grange has been to produce better husband and held up Mr. and Mrs. Boak as the kind of farm folk who unify the ideal.

At the conclusion of Mr. Taber's address, Chairman Fullerton introduced Mrs. Boak and Mrs. Taber to the audience, and they spoke words of greeting. Others introduced were State Lecturer, Mrs. Ira C. Gross, of Johnstown; Assistant State Steward, J. Edwin Brown, of Nottingham, Pa.; and State Ceres, Mrs. George Dewey, of Waterford, Pa.

Kenyon S. Bawyer, of Blair county, was introduced as the probable successor to J. Audley Boak, as State Grange Master, following the retirement of Mr. Boak from this post this year.

He spoke of the splendid leadership of Mr. Boak as State Grange Master, and urged his audience to go home and put into practice some of the things that Brother Taber had presented to them.

Music during the afternoon and evening was rendered by the Mt. Jackson high school band, under the leadership of W. H. McCullough. Attired in snappy red and white uniforms the band made a big hit with the crowd and played a large repertoire of difficult numbers.

Jurist's Cousin

Rev. David I. Schaeffer, pastor of the Mt. Vernon Presbyterian church pronounced the invocation at the opening of the program, following the singing of America by the audience.

Rev. Schaeffer is a cousin of Judge Paul N. Schaeffer of Berks county, who has figured most prominently in the present political investigation of state officials, having been appointed the trial judge by the State Supreme Court.

After the close of the afternoon program, a sports program was given by the youngsters under the direction of F. L. Reiter of Allegheny county, deputy state master; R. H. Bovard of Allegheny county and Johnson Busell of Washington county.

Assisting Pomona Master W. Sharp Fullerton with the program was Glenn Hill of Armstrong county, William Elder of Mercer county, O. W. Shannon of Beaver county and Dwight Brandon of Butler county.

After the afternoon program had been concluded there was a period of visiting and supper was then served in the grove by the ladies of Willard grange, who had prepared a tasty menu for the occasion.

Prof. Beatty Dimit of Slippery Rock State Teachers college was the principal speaker of the evening program, his subject being "Our Heritage."

Traces History

He traced the history of the grange from its foundation during the days of hatred between the north and south following the Civil war, and when it took up the which Abraham Lincoln failed to accomplish because of his untimely death.

He spoke of the hatred which is being engendered in the world today in the totalitarian states of Europe against the rest of the world, and of how the people of these nations are being taught to believe that they are the superiors of everyone else.

He described the principle of greed which still holds certain manufacturers of this country, for while our nation is girding itself to stave off war, and building a strong navy, these manufacturers are selling to Japan and other nations the very tools of making war against us.

Speaking of the national debt, he answered those who assert that the debt of other nations is greater than ours. Compared to population, our debt and that of Great Britain is the same, $107 per capita. In Great Britain last year the national debt increased only one billion, 700 millions, while ours increased vastly more.

We have used up this money, and at some future time our citizenry must pay back $139 per person. Great Britain $123 per person and France $103 per person.

He stated that at the present time there is an indirect tax of $523 per year being paid by each American family, which must be paid before we can use our family income.

He advocated organization of the farmer the same as labor has organized.

Referring to the higher power than government, the Supreme Ruler of the universe, he said that the grange has recognized it more than many other organizations. The grange has a Bible on its altar, which must be opened with ceremony before the meeting can take place. Dictators have attempted to destroy this faith in God, and he attempted to put state before God. He reiterated the thought of National Master Taber, that there must be a return to religion and its ideals if we are to return to peace and prosperity.

Past State Master Philip H. Dewey was then introduced. In behalf of the committee, he asked the audience to give the host and hostess, State Master and Mrs. Boak, a

FIREBREAK SERVES A DUAL PURPOSE

(International News Service)

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore.—The heavy annual toll of timber taken by forest fires along the range of mountains on the eastern side of Klamath valley was expected to be greatly reduced this season by a 12-foot firebreak now under construction.

For years, brush fires starting in the valley have raced up the mountain sides and destroyed timber from Klamath lake to the California state line. The firebreak, which is a cleared section also capable of serving as a road over which fire-fighting equipment can be transported, was expected by forest service authorities to check the flames before they break out of control.

Corrigan Asks For Permission To Fly 'Crate'

Wants Officials In Washington To Lift Ban On His Ancient Jalopy

OCEAN FLIER TO VISIT MANY CITIES

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Douglas Corrigan prolonged his stay in Washington today in an effort to convince the government that a $900 crate capable of flying the Atlantic is a safe and sane ship in which to traverse the established air routes of this nation.

The amazing Douglas wants the Bureau of Air Commerce to lift the suspension which grounded his ancient jalopy three weeks ago, so that he may continue his air tour of the country, properly surrounded by the assorted nuts, bolts and baling wire which hold the nine-year-old ship together.

Wants Permit
With this in mind, Corrigan began the day by breakfasting with Oswald Ryan, a member of the new civil aeronautics authority which takes over regulation of aircraft August 23. Later he was scheduled to have a conference with Dennis Mulligan, chief of the Bureau of Air Commerce, the man who grounded his ship. Douglas hopes to have the suspension lifted within 24 hours and Mulligan is strongly hinting it will be.

"But he's going to have to make some changes in that crate," Mulligan declared. "He's going to have to take out one or maybe all three of those auxiliary gas tanks which keep him from seeing where he's going."

"We are now going over drawings of his ship to see exactly what must be done. After all, if he should go on tour and injure himself, the effect of what he did in flying the ocean would be lost."

Heartless Drivers Killing Wild Game

Often times Unavoidable But Many Deliberately Try For Kill

Recently a friend called on Owen Fox and asked him to go along for an evening ride. They proceeded out to the country and made a drive of about 60 miles.

On the highway they observed that wild life was paying a heavy toll to the passing autos. Crushed bodies of six skunks, two groundhogs, one quail and a number of rabbits were strewn along the highway. In many cases the accidental killing of wild game on the roads cannot be avoided, but on this evening's trip, the driver of a car that was travelling ahead of ours, deliberately tried to run down a young rabbit by deviating from his course to the left of the road. Failing to hit his victim, the driver turned around and grinned, as much as to say, "too bad, I missed him."

Many of us forsake the cities for a while, to travel along our country highways, to seek some recreation and beauty that might be found along the roads, and the wild life that is often seen scurrying along the ribbons of concrete, should be given consideration at all times.

At this time of the year, approaching fall, there is a restless stir among wild creatures. The urge to travel is strong upon them, hence the reason they are seen on the highways, crossing and recrossing to various fields and woods on either side, which places them at the mercy of the man behind the wheel.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the waste and poisons out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day of about 8 pounds of waste.

Five Resolutions In Second Reading

Senate Will Take Up Five Important Resolutions Upon Reconvening

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 11.—Five senate resolutions calling for submission of constitutional amendments to the electorate next year—one for graduated income tax—were on the senate second reading calendar today for further consideration when the upper house reconvenes next Monday night.

Three, introduced by Sen. George Woodward, R., Philadelphia, call for a graduated income tax, permit appropriations exceeding the present constitutional debt limit of $1,000,000, and provide for civil service for all state employees.

Of the remaining two, one, introduced by Sen. J. Albert Reed, D., Washington, calls for tax exemptions on real property, and the other, introduced by Senators George A. Rupp, D., Allentown, and William R. Rodgers, D., Pittsburgh, prevents resale on the motor vehicle fund, insuring its use solely for highway purposes.

Butchers Fighting Against Dismissals

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 11.—A legal precedent was believed set here on Wednesday after several butchers in branches stores of Donahoes, Inc., petitioned the court for an injunction to prevent their being dismissed for failure to join a union.

The Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, Local No. 624, is attempting to force the unorganized butchers to join the union, or the company to dismiss them for refusing to do so, it was stated in court.

Common Pleas Judge W. Heber Dithrich set Friday for a hearing on whether a "labor dispute" is involved. A new state law requires a hearing in labor disputes before an injunction is possible.

Summer Cottages Damaged By Fire

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 11.—Damage done by the fire which razed 17 summer cottages in the middle of the Mt. Sewickley camp meeting association grounds Wednesday was set at $15,000.

First equipment from four surrounding towns and boroughs was immediately rushed to the scene when the fire was discovered by William Martin, a camper, late yesterday afternoon. Running from door to door throughout the camp, Martin and anxious mothers succeeded in herding all the children at the camp away from the flames.

The only source of water was a large cistern, authorities said, thus hampering the work by firemen and others. The Auditorium, a 30-room hotel and 23 other small cottages were saved. The camp is operated by the Methodist Episcopal church, although most of the cottages are owned by the campers.

Governor Earle To Address State On Graft Probe Tonight

May Be Another Blast At Court

Grand Jury Excused Until September 19; Supreme Court To Meet Sept. 26

LEGISLATORS TO REST UNTIL COURT MEETS

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Aug. 11.—As both grand jury and legislative investigations into graft charges made against the Earle administration awaited supreme court decisions before further action, Gov. George H. Earle prepared to address the people tonight on the subject.

He will speak from Harrisburg on a state-wide radio hookup from 8:15 to 8:30, Eastern Daylight Time.

It will be his first radio address on the issue since he lashed out at the three Dauphin county judges who first ordered the grand jury probe. Following the previous blast, the state supreme court, acting upon the Republican judges' request, appointed Berks County Judge Paul N. Scheffler, a Democrat, to act in their stead.

It was not known whether the governor's radio address would be in the form of a verbal assault or merely an explanation of his position in view of the apparent suspension of all activities on the graft charges until late September or October. By that time the fall election campaign will have opened.

Governor Earle has consistently attempted to make public the evidence behind the charges made against himself and prominent Democratic state and party associates. Now that the house investigation apparently has suspended its efforts to make the evidence public until the high court has ruled, it was expected he would have something to say on this.

Excuse Jurors
The Dauphin county grand jurors have been excused until September 19, when the regular term of court opens here, in line with Chief Justice John W. Kephardt's ruling staying the opening of the county inquiry.

The house investigation was also suspended, due to Justice Kephardt's refusal to lift Judge Scheffler's bans impounding the grand jury evidence and forbidding District Attorney Carl B. Shelley and key witnesses from testifying before it. Committee members said they wished to avoid any further conflict with the courts pending a ruling by the supreme court on the constitutionality of the legislature's probe bills halting the grand jury investigation.

The supreme court rulings, Justice Kephardt indicated, would not be handed down until the court met in regular session September 26 at Harrisburg. The chief justice said he doubted his colleagues could be gotten together in time for a special session.

The house investigation could proceed but committee members said they felt it was useless to do so without the testimony of Shelley and former attorney general Charles J. Margiotti.

The legislature itself was in recess until Monday night. It was expected to sit in special session for another week or two and then recess until late September or October to await the supreme court rulings.

Farm Tour Is Well Attended

Lawrence And Beaver County Farmers Tour Indiana County Farms

SEE VARIED LINE OF AGRICULTURE

Farmers of Lawrence and Beaver counties, 325 in number in a cavalcade numbering 65 cars, held their annual tour on Tuesday, visiting a number of the well kept farms of Indiana county.

The first stop was made at the plant of the McCreary Tire and Rubber company, at Indiana, Pa., after which the entourage went to the Indiana County Home farm, where lunch was enjoyed, and the farm was inspected. Alfalfa, improved pasture, and potato growing were observed.

The Nichol Turkey farm was next visited. This farm boasts 1,300 turkeys in one flock.

The next stop was at the farm of R. V. McNutt, of Brush Valley, where strip farming, the planting of crops in contour strips to avoid soil erosion was inspected.

The nursery of the Clearfield Bituminous Coal company where a million and a half seedlings are being made ready for shipment next year was seen. This is the largest privately owned nursery in Western Pennsylvania.

At the farm of C. D. Benca, near Marion Center, the splendid Jersey herd was inspected and study made of bull association, cow testing records, etc.

This concluded the tour, and the party returned home with many new ideas which they expect to be able to work out on their home farms.

Mrs. Caraway Is Headed For Second Term In Senate

Widow Of Late Senator Caraway Only Woman Ever Nominated For Senate

(International News Service) LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 11.—Although her principal opponent refused to concede defeat, Mrs. Hatue W. Caraway today was apparently headed for a second term in the U. S. senate.

The only woman senator ever elected, Mrs. Caraway, was virtually assured of the renomination that means election in Arkansas on the face of nearly complete returns from the state's 2,000 precincts.

Rep. John McClellan, who dubbed Mrs. Caraway "the little widow" and claimed in his campaign that he would be better able to serve the state than a woman, was trailing by approximately 5,000 votes with the ballots counted in all but 100 precincts.

Mullentowners Eye Big Outing

Cascade Park Picnic Tuesday, August 16, Expected To Draw Crowd

Anticipation is said to be greater than realization, but such is not the truth in regard to the Mullentown reunion. Members of the association always look forward to the gathering with great anticipation and realize much enjoyment from the gathering and this will be a fact when they gather at Cascade Park Tuesday afternoon and evening, August 16.

It is expected there will be a large crowd from far and wide and a good time will be had by all. Ida Suber is looking after the entertainment for the day and she is always a set ahead when it comes to providing features for the occasion.

Hugh Horton, a descendant of one of the real old timers from Mullentown, together with Frank Dewberry and Hugh Hannon are looking after the sports for the day and that means the best that can be placed on the line.

Horton's mother, aunts, grandmothers—all of his family—were among the earliest residents of Mullentown.

Other committees working in conjunction will also add their share to the features of the days outing so that the anticipated good time will be a realization.

Reunion Chairman Clair Glass has left no stone unturned to make the reunion a success.

In Religious and Fraternal Circles

Branch 467, L. C. B. A. Members of Branch 467, L. C. B. A., will have their regular business meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in St. Joseph's Hall. The social hour will be dispensed with and immediately following the meeting, the members will go to the home of the late Emil Kreuger, Smithfield St.

REAL ENEMY OF DEMOCRACY
The conviction of a few nazis in Suffolk county doesn't mean a thing.

America's task is to prevent the conditions which lead men to think more highly of another system of government than of our own. Little organizations like the one which broke the laws of this state, whether they be fascist or communist, will never threaten American institutions.

The threat is from a breathing down of our system, leading to absolute centralization of power in a frantic effort to cope with the situation.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

Martin Gantz Reunion Today

Affair At Christian Church Starts At 4 P. M.; Dinner At 6:30 O'Clock

Closes to 200 people expect to attend the annual Martin Gantz school reunion dinner at 6:30 o'clock this evening in the First Christian church dining room.

"Auld acquaintance" will never "be forgot" as long as the Martin Gantz reunions draw the crowds they have in former years. This is one of the youngest reunion organizations in New Castle but such great interest has been manifested by the members that its annual meeting has become one of the most important in the great reunion month of August.

A musical program has been arranged for the hour following dinner.

Many of the former pupils and friends enjoy a couple hours of visiting on the lawn of the church before dinner each year. The reunion actually gets under way at four o'clock in the afternoon, with the dinner following the visiting period at six-thirty.

Correct This Sentence: "I'm delivering this a little late," said the dealer, "because the one I started with got scratched in the truck and I had to go back to get another."

Still, if the law should forbid everything base, contemptible and dishonorable, how could anybody be a good politician?

Moon's Peterkin Dies At Johnstown

Pacer Had Mark Of 2:08 1-4 Well Known In This Section

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 11.—Peterkin, the famous sire of kings and queens of the half mile ring in pacing circles, is dead. The horse was the property of J. C. Moon of Mercer. Its demise occurred at Johnstown, where it had been stabled for some time. Peterkin was 23 years old. With the exception of Eph Cinders, also owned by Moon, the animal and its progeny are the best known in racing circles of any Mercer county owner. The animal had a mark of 2:08 1-4. Ten of his colts have made better than two With 20 colts racing over the half mile rings in Western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio and northern New York all of them have proven the worth of their sire. With perhaps two exceptions all are pacers.

Peterkin was never consistently in the money until he joined the Moon stables. The animal is well known by old timers, who follow the fortunes of the Sport of Kings of the half mile track.

WELLSVILLE LOSES. New Castle horseshoe team defeated Wellsville, O., 22 to 5 games on the Allen street courts last night and will play Beaver Falls at Beaver Falls, Friday night. New Castle has twice beaten Beaver Falls and hope to make it three straight.

Managers Will Meet On Friday

All Business Of City Baseball League Will Be Wound Up

There will be an important meeting of the managers of the City Baseball league at St. Joseph's parish house on Friday night at 8:45 o'clock, it was announced by Father Peter Michael Schirra today.

The meeting is for managers only and no players or others will be admitted to the meeting room. There will be considerable business to take up.

Whether or not there will be a second-half winner by Friday night is not known, the Slovaks and Mahoning are battling tooth and nail for the second half crown.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Sportsmen of York and vicinity, aroused by the announcement of the state game commission of the open season for doe, are planning a movement in opposition to the season. The action of the sportsmen of Pennsylvania, of which there are upwards of 700,000, will in all probability stop the wholesale slaughter of female deer and prevent the state's supply of wildlife from becoming exhausted.

Four prominent sportsmen have taken the initiative here for starting the campaign against the doe season. They are Herbert M. Sterner, Hanover; Stewart Lehman, Ezra Myers and Dr. S. H. Ensminger of York.

A public meeting, at which all sportsmen will be asked to attend, will be held on September 15 in the York county courthouse. It is likely that resolutions of protest will be adopted at that meeting. The movement is entirely non-partisan. It is also reported there are deer hunters in Lawrence county who are opposed to the open season on doe.

Rain caused a postponement of the Henry Armstrong-Lou Ambers lightweight championship fight in New York last night. They will exchange wallop for the fistic crown next Wednesday night.

Umpires awarded a forfeit to Hillville over South Hill, in Hillville, yesterday because South Hill was not ready to start the game. Wampum won which leaves them yet in command of the Lawrence county league race.

Mickie Solomon, former welterweight, who fought many good fights and was regarded as a splendid boxer, has taken over the training of several local amateur scrappers. Mickie ought to be able to develop some good boys. One of the smartest fighters he ever fought was with Kayo Huske not so long before he hung up the gloves. Huske was, exactly as his name implies "husky", and fought a boring-in fight only to be circumvented by Mickie's boxing ability and strategy. They boxed at the Jolly bowl. Fans yet recall the scrap. Mickie fought Buck McTiernan and a lot of other welterweights and middleweights.

Whizzer White, possibly the most publicized college star, has signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates professional football team for $15,000 a season, according to reports from Pittsburgh.

LADIES HAVING TOURNEY. The ladies of the New Castle Field club are in the midst of the first annual Bertha Offordinger Memorial Trophy tournament at the club course. The event is being staged by elimination under 7-8 difference of handicaps. Quite a number of ladies are participating.

FATHERS AND SONS EVENT. Angelo "Dike" Monney, pro at the New Castle Field club, today announced that the annual fathers and sons tournament will be played on August 31, instead of August 24, as originally announced. The event will be a "Scotch" foursome play with each player playing an alternate stroke under a 1/2 combined handicap. It is expected that this tourney will draw between 40 and 50 to the Field club. A stag dinner will follow the event.

Filban Hurls No-Hit Game

Boro A. C. Pitcher Enters Softball Hall Of Fame; Score Is 9 To 0

RADIATORS, NOBILS SCORE VICTORIES

Filban, ace hurler of the Boro A. C. softball team, entered the New Castle Softball Hall of Fame last night at the Boro field by pitching the Boro's to a 9 to 0 victory over the F. O. E. team and not allowing the least sign of a hit or run over the nine inning route. He fanned five men and walked but one man.

It was the finest exhibition of pitching seen this year. He was complete master of the F. O. E. No. 45 at all times. He used a fast ball that snapped across the plate like a baseball.

"Blackie" Irwin was on the hill for the F. O. E. and was found for 13 hits. The leading hitters in the game were B. B. McKelvey, Kirkwood, J. Majeski and C. Falba.

Robinson To Battle Moran

Featherweights Rematched For Bout Here Next Monday Night

ROBINSON WON FIRST DECISION

Smokey Robinson, featherweight of Oil City, will fight Frankie Moran of this city, Monday night in the Jefferson A. C. fight offering in the Grove street playground. The match was consummated 1 a s t night and indications are that it will prove one of the hardest battles in which either has participated. Robinson defeated Moran in a three round fight recently. Since then Moran has scored two knockouts and one decision.

Robinson fights like Henry Armstrong, the professional featherweight and welterweight champion. He keeps on top of his man and keeps punching every second. He is keen to take advantage of every break.

Moran fought Babe Hutchison of East Liverpool last Monday night. He was given the decision. Many fans believed the Babe won. However, should Moran beat Smokey his next fight may be against Hutchison.

Cardinals Halt Pirates 5 to 0

Lon Warneke Limits League Leaders To Four Hits; Game Halted By Rain

GIANTS LOSE; INDIANS AHEAD

By ANTHONY J. PUGLIESE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Manager Pie Traynor of the Pirates came forward a short time ago with the assertion that up on the right arm of Bob Klinger and the potent bat of Johnny Rizzo tested the chances of the Bucs in the National league face.

Traynor, one of the best liked of the baseball gentry, today finds he was just about half right in his statement, although his club is topping the pack by the comfortable margin of six and a half games.

For Rizzo, the hard-hitting outfielder, as Traynor predicted, has been one of the main cogs in the Pirates machine as the club climbed steadily from nowhere in its ascent to the league leadership, while Klinger lately has been of little use to the club.

Has Sore Arm.

Klinger's sore pitching arm has caused Traynor plenty of concern in recent weeks, as the young right-hander faltered consistently when called upon to aid the victory march.

But where Klinger failed, the Giants came to the aid of the Pirates by going into a tailspin and landing right out of the money.

Bob was beaten again yesterday as Lon Warneke held the Bucs to four hits, winning for the Cardinals 5 to 0 in the first game of a double-header called in the seventh due to rain.

The second game was postponed. Klinger suffered his fourth loss, being hit freely by the Cards.

The Pirates lost no ground as the Giants dropped an 8 to 2 decision to the Bucs as the banjo hitters suddenly came through with a 16-hit barrage. The Giants' defense was shattered by three costly errors.

Cubs Win Again.

A four-run rally by the Cubs, featured by Frank Demaree's three-run homer, gave the Bruins a 6 to 3 victory over Johnny Vander Meer and the Reds. Vandy weakened after holding the Cubs to three hits for seven innings.

The Brooklyn Dodgers were scheduled to play a night game with the Phillies but rain drenched them out.

The Yankees maintained their 5½ game lead by taking a slugfest from the Senators 12 to 11 in 10 innings as Harry Kelley walked Joe Glenn to force the winning run across the plate. Gordon and Rolfe homered for the Yankees and Simmons, Lewis and Case for Washington.

Indians Win.

Aided by Gerald Walker's homer, the White Sox won from the Tigers, 8 to 7, despite a Detroit rally featured by Rudy York's 24th homer.

Sam Chapman's homer and Bud Thomas' seven-hit pitching gave the Athletics a 5 to 3 triumph over the Red Sox.

In St. Louis, the Indians came from behind as Hal Trosky homered with two on during a five-run ninth inning rally to win 9 to 6. Billy Sullivan hit for the circuit for the Browns.

FRIENDSHIP GIRLS

Friendship Girls will play Cherry street baseball at Mahoningtown tonight. Dave's field. Sunday, Volant will meet the Friendship Girls.

Many have learned that might isn't right, but Alas! they are the ones who have no might.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

A note on John Kraft... John Kraft, New York, a former New Castle sports writer and well known athlete, is here for his annual vacation... He stopped in for a few minutes Wednesday... Kraft looks as physically fit as he did several years ago when he was one of the most active local athletes.

After forsaking the newspaper game, he journeyed to Manhattan where he studied at Columbia university... He later became affiliated with the Chase National Bank and now holds a responsible position with the Secony Vacuum Oil company... He confessed that he is just as much an athlete as he was during his New Castle days... Basketball, a little baseball, swimming, tennis, badminton and even squash racket are some of the sports which keep Kraft in splendid shape.

Do you know?... Bill Terry, of the Giants, was the last major leaguer to bat 400 for a season. He batted .401 in 1930... "Chuck" Klein, of the Phillies, has made 200 or more hits five times... Tommy Burns, heavyweight champ, 1906-1908, was a Canadian... Bois Roussel is the name of the horse that won the English Derby... Archie San Romani, the track star, has put Emporia, Kansas, in sports news... Dave Albritton is Ohio State's champion high jumper... Otto Reisel is a well known billiard player... Major league season closes October 2... Lou Gehrig is the highest paid ball player in the majors... The score of a forfeited baseball game is 9 to 0.

To Fight Fan Slim... Will be glad to print your letter if you send in your full name and address... Anonymous contributions are never printed in this column.

Along the avenue... "Raffles" Johns, munching away at an ice cream cone admitted yesterday that he is deeply interested in a college career this fall... He claims to have an offer from Youngstown college but prefers Duquesne... Johns had quite well as a grinder under the watchful eyes of Phil Bridenbaugh... Guy Lackey sure gave us the Manhattan raspberries for picking the Pirates down the line... There's still a third of the season left... Also learned that "Gig" Thomas, assistant coach at New Castle, is vacationing at Geneva-on-the-lake and is quite a badminton addict... Jokey Travers cornered us and gave a lesson on how a fight should be judged... He claims that the lad in the worst condition in the end is the loser... We offered to use our influence in getting him a judging post at the local amateur bouts... He turned it down flatly... Why? Council Joe Alexander joined in on our "venue gossip" and presented an interesting slant on various sports situations as they are today... Councilman Alexander is up to the minute on all sport events...

Do's and dashes along the sport front... Henry Flood, one of the busiest pro golfers in the business, gives about 1,000 lessons a year... Wonder if its true that Babe Ruth dumped a little money in this Brooklyn outfit... Russ Bauers' two hit performance was one of the sweetest of the season in Pirate land... And, as the members of the elite would say, "quite apropos"...

Managing a big league club is tough on the waist line... Gabby Hartnett has lost 12 pounds since becoming pilot of the Cubs... Arthur "Bud" Potts, a 13-year-old Philly grammar school pupil, is aiming at John Vander Meer's title... Potts recently turned in his second successive no-hitter... He has also turned in four shutouts in five starts.

Armstrong And Ambers Fight Is Postponed

Will Fight Next Wednesday At Madison Square Garden, Mike Jacobs Says

RAIN SPOILS TITLE BATTLE

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers and Challenger Henry Armstrong went back to the treadmill today to resume preparations for their presentation of assault and battery, which was about to be a private showing last night when the weather forced a postponement until next Wednesday and caused a shift in the venue from the Polo grounds to Madison Square Garden.

Up to now few seem to care one way or another and indicated this apathy by staying away in quite impressive throngs. Counting the policemen, the ushers and the press, fewer than 10,000 persons were out at the Giants' ball yard for the lightweight title battle when, a little more than an hour before the principals were to enter the ring, the delay was decided upon.

The weather couldn't have been in on the crowd very much because it didn't change for the worse until after dark, and ringside conjecture had it that the show would not have topped $50,000 and thus would have stood very close to an all time flop among modern championship fights.

Too Much Money.

Some held that the top price of $16.50 is too much tariff for a bout involving Ambers who never has been able to draw better than bait-out money and this factor probably is the cause of it all. Anyhow, they may do a little better in the Garden with the additional week, a majority felt.

Promoter Jacobs and Eddie Mead, Armstrong's mouthpiece, have held all along that it was strictly an indoor fight, but Manager Al Wall of the Ambers entourage wanted it outside and got his way up to last night.

While the date and site have been changed, there is little or no likelihood that there will be any appreciable shift in the betting odds, which have established Armstrong as a long priced favorite to win and with that come into possession of his third title all at the same time. He already is welter and feather champ.

Market Turns Weak After Brief Rise At Opening
Today; Losses Small

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The stock market turned weak today after a brief rise in the early dealings in response to the Russo-Japanese truce announcement.

Gains running to a point and more were wiped out in most cases and losses substituted. Some of the high-priced stocks and those which had scored the biggest rise in recent sessions suffered sharp losses.

These included declines of 2 points and more in leading chemicals, 4 in U. S. Rubber preferred at its low, nearly 3 in Union Pacific, and 2 or more in Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck and Philip Morris.

Chrysler started a point higher as a result and General Motors nearly as much. The gains were wiped out and small losses substituted later.

The steel shares also moved up in the early dealings but slipped later. National dropped a point.

The chemicals were heavy from the start and gave ground easily once the selling developed.

Most rails slipped though Atchafalaya showed resistance. Coppers for felted early gains and showed fractional losses. Utilities and oils were easy, while farm implements and aviation were lower. The rubber section was depressed by pressure on the U. S. Rubber issues.

Foreign exchanges rallied in the forenoon on the far eastern developments but reacted as the day wore on, the British pound working over, Japanese bonds rallied in the bond market.

Grains were weak, several corn deliveries going to new season's lows. Cotton was slightly better. Foreign stock markets continued dull and irregular.

Don't Purchase "Bootleg" Milk

City Health Officer Sounds Warning To Consumers Of Milk

"Don't buy bootleg milk if you value your health or the health of your children," said Dr. William L. Steen, city health officer today. Further, when an unlicensed person offers milk at a cut price, refuse to buy.

"The milk he has to sell has already been condemned as unfit for use. He could get a better price for his milk at wholesale than he is charging but the milk inspectors have found his farm to be so filthy that the creameries and pasteurizing plants have been forbidden to buy it even to make butter or cheese. The plants would pasteurize his milk and thus kill the bacteria, but they cannot remove the filth from it. The first in milk," the health officer explained, "comes largely from the cows' flanks and udders when being milked. In unclean barns the cows lie down and gather filth and this is brushed off into the milk pails. The health physician then added that undiluted fever is carried to humans by manure in raw milk and this is also a cause of streptococci sorethroat.

He said that unclean raw milk is one of the causes of summer diarrhoea.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Mr. Vincent Lopez, one of our better band-leaders, sponsors a new "Star-Spangled Banner," one that most anybody can sing without the help of spirits fermenting. Mr. Lopez looks forward to the day or shadow of eve when we can all gather around and let loose with the national anthem as confidently and as gayly as the boys warble "Sweet Adeline" or "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

"It's a good idea. The good old 'Star-Spangled' has its points. There's a thrill in it, particularly if you know its history—how it was born in a storm of shot and shell—but one of the most painful experiences in life is to stand in a crowd and hear an average assembly of good Americans fall over their own feet just trying to remember the words of one verse. When it comes to the jumping difficulties of the air most of us simply quit and go um-pa-pa, um-pa-pa.

But somehow I don't believe the old anthem will ever be relegated to the attic. It's too deeply ingrained in the national consciousness. There's too much history and sentiment behind it, all the way up through the War of 1812 and the Mexican War and the Spanish War and the Great War.

Memories of our national heroes cluster around the old anthem—Grant and Sherman and Sheridan, Schley and Sampson and Dewey, Pershing and Sims, so many more. And we like to go back to that flame swept night when it sprang to the brain of its young author.

The young man who wrote "The Star-Spangled Banner" under the excitement and inspiration of terrific emotion was Francis Scott Key. He was a lawyer as well as a poet; and was fighting the British as a volunteer in an artillery battery.

The Red Coats had captured Washington and burned the White House and were bent on taking Baltimore. Francis Scott Key's ship, the "Meredith," was on the road to Baltimore. The British fleet was bringing its guns to bear on Port McHenry.

Francis Scott Key, under a white flag of truce, got into a small boat and had himself rowed to the British flagship to appeal for the release of a friend, Dr. William Beanes, who had been captured and was a prisoner. The British officer greeted Mr. Key courteously. When it was proved to them that Dr. Beanes had treated their own wounded, the Admiral promptly ordered the doctor's release. But they were not permitted to return immediately to Baltimore. They must await the attack, the result of the bombardment which was about to begin.

When the guns began to rain shot and shell against Fort McHenry, Francis Scott Key watched the fleet close in on the fort and saw the bursting shells crash against its bastions, from which flew the flag of the young republic—the flag of red and white stripes and fifteen white stars.

Throughout the afternoon and night of September 13, 1814, Francis Scott Key, with breathless interest, watched the shells falling on Fort McHenry, his heart contracting at every roar of the cannon for fear that the fort and the city were doomed. And then, just before dawn, the bombardment ended.

In silence and anxiety the dark young Key paced the deck, peering through the darkness toward the fort, praying for daylight, wondering if the flag was still there. And then the light came, spreading rapidly, and the first beams of the rising sun bathed in glory the shimmering stars and stripes. The enemy were hastily retreating to their ships. The attack had failed.

And Francis Scott Key, returned to shore, put down on scraps of paper the lines that had burned into his brain as the British cannon hammered Fort McHenry. And that night, in a Baltimore hotel, he wrote down upon a sheet of note-paper the thirty-two lines that became the anthem of the republic. "O long may it wave," Over the land of the free and the home of the brave!"

On Court House Hill

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS
Morris Greenberg to Salvatore Serio, Wayne township, $400.
Flower Realty company to Carrie E. Smith, First ward, $600.

Naturalization examiners who are at work on 250 applicants for citizenship papers, have been able to examine about forty applicants per day.

Judging from the number of pleas which have been entered in court, and the small number of prisoners in the county jail, the September term of court is liable to be short.

Committee in charge of the lawyers and court officials and employees picnic which is to be held at Grove City park on Saturday, say that all arrangements have been completed for a big time. Indications are that there will be a good attendance.

Letters testamentary in the estate of the late Earl S. Machin of Neshannock township, have been issued by Register and Recorder Orville Potter to Marie D. Machin. Letters in the estate of Annie Williams of this city have been issued to John A. McNeill. Will of the late Giuseppe Salerno of Mahoning township, has been probated but no letters have yet been issued.

In the case of the Commonwealth against George E. Hall petition for a special writ of certiorari has been presented by Hall. He represents that an information was made by A. E. Kallista before Justice Harry Clark of Wayne township, in which he was charged with reckless driving. The justice sentenced him to pay $10 and costs. He contends that this was contrary law, as the justice had no jurisdiction.

In the case of John Gargasz against the Pennsylvania Power company in which he is seeking to recover damages as the result of an auto accident, when he collided with Gustav A. Homan, the defendant has filed an answer at the prothonotary's office in which it is denied that the power company required Homan, who was selling appliances for the company, to have an automobile. It is claimed that Homan had the car simply for his own pleasure and convenience.

Several deeds for private sale of real estate owned by the county have been confirmed by the court at the request of the county commissioners. These deeds are for lots which have been taken in former years at tax sales. Usually the county must advertise such properties for public sale, but they can be sold at private sale, if no objections are made to approval by the court. The county has a lot of vacant lots and land which is bringing no income, but there appears to be very little demand for it.

Difficulty of finding out who are at the head of the "numbers" racket was illustrated in court yesterday when two young men up for sentence, experienced a loss of memory when it came to naming the man for whom they were working. The nearest they could come to it was that he was a man whom they met on the streets. Despite efforts by officials, it seems hard to break up the numbers racket. It is not being run as openly as before the big raids some time ago, but it is being operated just the same.

In the case of C. E. Ketterer, receiver of the First National Bank of Ellwood City, against the Pittsburgh Company, Judge W. Walter Braham has handed down an opinion continuing a hearing, and the Locust Grove Cemetery Association is directed to file an amended petition setting forth its claims against the Pittsburgh Company. It seems that the officers were the same in the Pittsburgh Company and the Locust Grove Cemetery Company, and the Pittsburgh Company has $17,000 of the Locust Grove Cemetery money. The Pittsburgh Company, before going into the hands of a receiver, had agreed to give the cemetery company a lien on two properties for the money held by it, but this lien was never given. The bank contends the money is a Pittsburgh Company asset, which the cemetery company denies.
